Explicit Consent for Processing of COVID-19 data

Ayrodynamic Triathlon Club is collecting the above health related data pertaining to COVID-19 for each member attending club training sessions and volunteers. We are collecting this data for the purpose of complying with government regulations, to protect other members of the club, and to help prevent spread of the virus.

As health information falls within the definition of "special categories of personal data" under applicable data protection legislation, we require explicit consent to process this health information.

Should a case of COVID-19 be recorded:

- this information will be shared with statutory or regulatory authorities and organisations to comply with public health obligations.
- club members potentially affected will be advised of a case of COVID-19 within the club, but personal data will be anonymised.

You can withdraw your consent at any time by contacting Alastair Ness (alastairness7@gmail.com).

Your consent will be valid for 1 year, after which we will no longer process the health personal data collected or seek further consent.

Please read the list below and agree only if you consent to us processing this personal data and using it as detailed in our privacy notice:

I give consent to the processing of this COVID-19 data listed in the health screening survey as follows:

- COVID-19 symptoms
- COVID-19 exposure
- any physical or mental conditions (that we are unaware of) that affect the ability to train
